

This is a confidential report containing personal health information.

It's primary purpose is to enhance patient feedback.

Patients can download their monitoring reports and either print them for their own use or bring them to a consultation meeting with their doctor.

Patients might even send the document to a healthcare professional or allow a medical person to access their report.